Whitman, Massachusetts – May 15, 2006 -- FreeTEL System is pleased to announce that its new multi-language website is now live. This innovative multi-language website will help FreeTEL System to better serve the consumers.

"Establish with the aim of helping our customers enjoy free internet telephone service with support, we would love to provide them an additional step, offer the website in English, French and Vietnamese. This makes easy access to product information and support in consumer's favorite language. The message we would like to deliver to our customers about the multi-language website is our endeavors to let them feel like home and fit the needs of each region in the world", says Mr. Simon Tran, President and Chief Executive Officer of FreeTEL System.

"The multi-language website of FreeTEL System does provide a friendly and real time service environment for consumers around the world. The website contains latest news, product information, technical information and many valuable resources in three different languages that will surely help to bring people around the world come close to each other", says Mr. Hieu Ho, Vice President and Chief Technology Officer of SupraLink Solutions.

"To be one of the first Internet Telephone Service Provider providing multi-language support and website, FreeTEL System will communicate better with consumers. It is a great move in the company's long-term strategy of multicultural, multi-language marketing leadership. Surfing the website in the favorite language would facilitate consumers in understanding the products and services", says Mr. Tim Nguyen, Vice President of Solutions Network.
